

Web Servant Report April 1, 2012 NASCONA

Our website is doing great as usual. I installed a hit counter on our website over 3 months ago and we have had 11,664 individual hits sense then. So we are starting to get some good traffic on our website. It may take a while, but we will eventually be in the search engine ranking for worldwide search engines.

After they fix my chest I have some projects in mind for our website. I still plan to create a table of content page for our website. Then I will work on the graphics. I would like to remind all of the groups that you have your very own web page(s). It's yours to do with what you want. I will add that some of our groups are in the search engines from time to time.

Search Engine Rankings as of 3/28/12
